Britain is Britain's Prime Minister Theresa May leaves 10 Downing Street, as the country is hit by a heatwave, in London, Britain July 13, 2018. REUTERS/Hannah McKay Foreign investors, including those from the EU, that pay income tax in Britain are allowed to use the country's courts and banking system without charging any extra tax. May said it was vital to retain this for Britain's economy, but warned that a lack of action would allow tax dodging by foreign investors. "We welcome investment from across the globe that will boost our economy and strengthen Britain's place in the world," she said. "We can, and should, do more to make sure that all investors comply with the rules. "That is why I am today announcing that we will bring forward proposals for reforms so that we can better deal with the problem of overseas companies using the City of London and our other courts to avoid paying tax in the UK." The EU's top court, the Court of Justice of the European Union (CJEU), ruled last year that Britain cannot charge a bank fee on services in Europe that also reflect tax losses in Britain because it would be discriminatory. As a result, Britain will have to change its rules to eliminate discrimination to renew passporting rights that enable London to serve as a global financial centre. "Passport arrangements are
